EARLY LIFE OF WITNESS DISCLOSED

Mrs. Patterson Wept as Prosecutor Pried Into
Her Girlhood

SLAYER OF HUSBAND

Accused of Having Led a Life of Immorality for Many Years.

Denver, Colo., November 25.—In-sinnations that Mrs. Gertrude Gibson Patterson on trial for her life for killing her husband, began leading an immoral life when she was 14 years old and at least two men, besides Patterson and Strous had figured in her career; that she was an inmate of a house of ill-fame in St
Louis and that she practically paid Patterson to make her his wife, were made by Prosecutor Benson at yesterday afternoon's session of the trial during the cross-examination of the defendant.

So bluntly and rapidly did Mr.
Benson put his questions that Mrs.
Patterson several times broke down and wept and once during a short recess she fainted in an ante-room and a doctor was called.

The chief points of her story that were attacked were the assertions that her husband beat her and otherwise abused her physically and the charge that he had sold her for $1,- 500 to her former admirer, Emil
W. Strous, a Chicago millionaire, with whom she made a trip to Europe.

Led to repeat various instances of Patterson's alleged abuse and forced to declare that naturally at the time she felt toward him the greatest indignation and contempt, she was confronted by letters she herself had written to her husband shortly after the alleged assaults.

These letters were couched in terms of deepest affection, such as a devoted wife would write to an affectionate husband.

On the trip to Europe with Strous undertaken, she had said, at the command of her husband, who she said received $1,500 from Strous, the state put an entirely different construction and wrung from the witness admissions that strengthened the theory of the prosecution.

The mask of impetuability that Mrs. Patterson had worn throughout the early days of the trial vanished.
Twice she wept, but at other times doubt, scorn and indignation held her.

Reviewing her early life in Sandoval, Ill., Prosecutor Benson wrung from her an admission that when she was about 14 years old she had been expelled from school, but not for immoral conduct, as he had intimated.

He then endeavored unsuccessfully to get Mrs. Patterson to admit that she had lived in a resort in St. Louis.

He asked Mrs. Patterson if she had seen a lawyer in Chicago about a divorce in July, 1910.

"You took this step because of the treatment you had suffered at your husband's hands?"

"I did."

Mr. Benson handed her a letter, which she admitted she had written to Patterson, then at a sanitarium near Chicago, only a short time after she had consulted her lawyer.

The letter was read to the jury. In it Mrs. Patterson called her husband her "Soul Mate," and said: "If you did not sign the paper my lawyer has this afternoon I will come to you soon, as I am very unhappy, and you are the only cure."

Mr. Benson led over the story of her husband's alleged abuse until Patterson entered a Denver Sanitarium. Another letter, written June 30, 1911, was handed Mrs. Patterson.
It read in part:

"My dear Little Pet: Yours just received. Now you must not worry and feel that there is a responsibility on you, for there is not. I take all the responsibility on my own shoulders."

"You will be happy when you step into your own little bungalow. Just be happy, Charley and the way to be happy is to know that you have got the best little loving wife and helpmate in the world." Lots of love and trust me. I am true all the time.
Are you?"

On the instance of the trip to England with Strous the prosecution sought to get from the witness that just prior to the trip she had urged her husband to get into some business for himself and that negotiations were pending for his purchase of a half interest in a Chicago printing establishment for which she was to give him $1,500 which she said she had inherited from an estate that had just been settled.

To all questions on this point Mrs.

Patterson returned positive denials or a qualified, "Not that I remember."

" Didn't you tell Charlotte Patterson that Mr. Strous was like a father to you; that he had had you educated and that he wanted you to go to Europe with him because your knowledge of French would be of value to him in buying goods?" asked Mr.
Benson.

" Didn't he beg of you on his bended knees not to go?"

" He did not," she shot back.

BEATTIE TO BE BURIED SUNDAY

Richmond, Va., Nov. 25.—After strictly private funeral services at the Beattie home on Sunday, the body of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., will be buried in Maury cemetery, where his murdered wife and his mother are buried. The police have received orders to clear the cemetery during services there and permit no one to enter the burial grounds except the Beatties and their dead.

The body lay for four hours after the execution at the prison mortuary until an undertaker removed it to his morgue to prepare for burial. Later it was removed to the Beattie home.

Today the Beattie family is alone with its grief. The window shades in the residence are drawn tight and no movement is seen about the place.

MUSKINGUM COUNTY WILL VOTE DEC. 16

Zanesville, Nov. 25.—The local option date is Saturday, Dec. 16.

This was decided by the county commissioners Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the petition asking for an election was filed by a committee composed of W. S. Well, John Hoge, A. S. Weller, F. A. Durban,
W. E. Deacon, Charles Rowlands, P.
A. Carr and A. E. Starr.

The petition contained just 7,991 names. The resolution of the board of commissioners, setting the date, was immediately certified to the board of elections and now all the preliminaries have been concluded.

MASKED YEGGS BLOW SAFES AT MT. VERNON, O.

(Special to Advocate)

Mt. Vernon, O., Nov. 25.—Five masked men forced entrances early this morning to McConnell's warehouse, John F. Smoots' grocery and the Mt. Vernon Hay & Grain Company's office. At McConnell's warehouse they overpowered the watchman, George Brown, and tied and gagged him with a roller towel. The yeggs then blew the safe and secured $95 25. They also blew the safe at the warehouse and secured about $100. They secured 35 cents at the Smoots grocery.

After being bound about an hour Brown managed to free himself and telephoned the night patrolmen. A court was made for the yeggs, but they probably escaped on an early morning train. There is no further clue. Nearby cities have been warned to be on the lookout.

CANTON REFORMERS BECOMING ACTIVE

Canton, Nov. 25.—While Canton was asleep last night deputies from the sheriff's office drove out into the country and made a bonfire of a wagon load of gambling paraphernalia confiscated in a raid three weeks ago by the reformers asking for the removal of Major A. R.
Turnbull. Two thousand dollars was the estimated value of the property destroyed.

IMPERIAL FORCES WERE REPULSED

Peking, Nov. 25.—Premier Yuan Shih Kai's position is becoming worse daily. Neither the Manchus nor the Chinese trust him and the foreigners are becoming more and more suspicious of his motive. Many Chinese believe that Yan while reassuring foreigners with a view to getting a loan to this belief. The Imperial forces after an attack on Hankow in less than 36 hours were approached and driven out onto the Han-Yan river with great loss.

"Then Miss Conrad said: 'You sit
at that desk and write what we tell

STOKES TELLS OF SHOOTING

Millionaire Shot by Act- resses Portrays Drama in Pantomime

GIRL WEEPS IN COURT

During Recital and is Caimed by Her Companion Who Took Part in Tragedy.

New York, Nov. 25.—W. E. D.
Stokes, the millionaire hotel proprietor, made a dramatic witness for the prosecution in the trial of the "shooting show girls." Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, when he declared that one of them told him they were prepared to dispose of his body after killing him.

Acting out every role in pantomime,
Stokes described how he was shot when they acted in self-defense when they shot the millionaire in their apartments June 7 last to obtain a bunch of letters which they agreed to return to him.

Crouching low in the witness chair
he described how Lillian Graham crept toward him, revolver in hand, and said there were three men in the apartment ready to aid them hide his body after he had been killed.

Mrs. Stokes, the young wife of the complainant, listened attentively while the thrilling story was revealed. Miss Graham sobbed frequently during Stokes' recital of the thrilling event, while Miss Conrad soothed her and looked defiantly at the accuser.

The court room was crowded, and outside the doors a hundred or more persons struggled to gain entrance.
Stokes was calm throughout his testi-monium. The nonchalance of the actresses, which has marked their conduct since the shooting, had vanished.

During the morning session Stokes told of the circumstances of his meeting Lillian Graham at the Hotel Ansonia in 1906. Against his advice she had gone on the stage. He said he was a divorcee then. Immediately after the luncheon recess Stokes began his recital of the assault.

He said he went to the Varuna about 6 o'clock in the evening of June 7, went up to the apartment and was admitted by Ethel Conrad.

"I came to get my letters," testified

Mr. Stokes. "We walked to the parlor. Miss Conrad laughing and chatting. After I was in the parlor I saw Miss Graham coming down the hall, and she held a revolver pointed toward me. She was crouched down, her revolver pointed this way." Here Stokes crouched in the witness chair, his right arm crooked and his index finger bent over an imaginary revolver.

"What did she say?" asked Assistant District Attorney Buckner.

"She said: 'Now I've got you! I'll teach you that you can't slander the name of my dead mother and my sister,'" said Mr. Stokes.

"I turned to Ethel Conrad and said:
'You told me this afternoon that Miss Graham had gone abroad. I had perfect trust in you. What kind of a game is this?' She said: 'Oh, it's all part of a trick.'

"All the time Miss Graham was pointing the revolver at me. Then Miss Conrad said: 'If you do what we tell you it will be all right. No one knows that you came here. You came on the sly.' I made no reply. Miss Graham made the same statement in a loud voice.

"Then one of them said: 'We are witnesses; also, we have got three men in there—pointing to a rear room—who can see everything that goes on and hear what is said. We have made arrangements to get rid of your body.'

"Then Miss Conrad said: 'You sit
at that desk and write what we tell

BIG FIRE LOSS AT BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 25.—One fireman was killed and several injured in a fire here today that caused a $200,000 damage in the heart of the business section. Fireman J. M. Massey, the dead man, was crossing the floor of an upper story when it collapsed. Others were carried down with the floor but escaped with minor injuries. A warehouse, a theatre, and a printing plant were destroyed.

ZELTNER MAY GET PARDON

Columbus, Nov. 25.—Speculation is rife at the Ohio penitentiary as to who will get the Thanksgiving pardon from Gov. Harmon. It was reported today that Paul Zeltner, 42, serving a life sentence for second degree murder, will be recommended

LILLIAN GRAHAM AND ETHEL CONRAD TO PLEAD SELF DEFENSE AT THEIR TRIAL FOR SHOOTING MILLIONAIRE STOKES

LILLIAN GRAHAM      ETHEL CONRAD

PROBES OF STATE OFFICIALS TO BE REOPENED BY HOGAN

Columbus, O., Nov. 25.—Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, on trial for shooting W. E. D. Stokes, have announced that they will plead that they acted in self-defense when they shot the millionaire in their apartments June 7. They assert that Stokes went to their flat and demanded certain letters he had written to Miss Graham, and when his demand was refused, attacked the young woman. Stokes says that when he went to the flat in response to a telephone message the girls demanded money from him and then drew revolvers and began shooting.

Now it develops that the Attorney General's department has been busy for several months quietly probing into the reports of the probes instituted during Governor Harmon's first term in the different state departments would be reopened and pressed to conclusion in the courts as rapidly as his special counsel can compile adequate evidence and prepare the cases. The filing of the suit yesterday against United States Marshal H. D. Davis, of Cleveland, former state fire marshal, came like a bomb from the attorney general's department to former state office holders and politicians. Failure of grand jury action on court proceedings following the various probes which were conducted at that time was regarded as closing the entire distasteful state of affairs which was disclosed.

Attorney General Hogan today stated that he is now waiting upon the reports of his special attorneys who have been working on the various cases to take official action against other present and former state officers.

It was a shocking crime," said he. "I so expressed myself before I knew my son was implicated."

The most surprising feature of the verdict to those who have followed the case closely was the conviction of Schmidt. He is a quiet little farmer, against whom, it was thought by attorneys, the state had made a weak case.

Mrs. Simms, who has been a constant court attendant, remained with the two convicted men until after court adjourned. Her husband, highly pleased over his acquittal, smiled broadly and congratulated his attorneys.

Mary Chamberlain was not present.

It was said that she, too, believed the verdict impossible, and left town for Beverly.

O. F. Sanders, one of the jurors, today told how the jury arrived at the verdict.

"There was so much testimony to consider," he said, "that it took us a long time to go over the ground. Not a single ballot was taken until the jury had been out more than 24 hours."

"We spent less time on the case of Sherrill Clark, perhaps, than any other although it was gone into in detail."

"Then we spent much time on the case of John Schmidt. The principal thing that caused his conviction was his act in shouting 'come along' with the crowd that was going out to see the tarring. That made it appear that he was taking an unusual interest in the episode."

"The acquittal of Simms does not seem so peculiar when it is considered that only the uncorroborated testimony of Chester Anderson was given against him. The court instructed us that a conviction should

Daughters of America.

Banner Council No. 101 met in regular session on Tuesday evening Nov. 17th with good attendance. Several candidates were balloted on. The members are urged to attend the National Thanksgiving memorial services at the Plymouth Congregational church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Address by Rev. Mr. Thomas.

TAR PARTY

"None considered for a moment the alleged bad reputation of Mary Chamberlain when he came to make up his verdict. We were agreed that this was not the issue."

Mr. Sanders could not remember how many ballots were taken, but he said they were numerous.

Attorney Millikin excepted to the sentence, saying he thought it excessive. Thirty days, he suggested, would have been severe enough.

None of the four convicted men seemed surprised at the action of the court. They think no tales will be exercised after they have served a short time, it is said.

Fewer than 20 persons were present when sentence was pronounced. Clark is president of a Shady Bend milling company, and was accused of being the leader of the "tar party."

Fitzwater is a miller, also of Shady Bend.

Scranton is one of Everett Clark's employees.

Ricard is a barber who was riding with Miss Chamberlain on the night of the tarring.

ECZEMA

(Also Called TETE, SAT. IRISH, PRURITUS, MILK-CRUST, WEEPING SKIN, ETC.)

ECZEMA CAN BE CURED TO STAY.

One application was received and referred to the proper committee. A communication was received from Grafton, West Virginia, notifying us that Brother A. K. Belt was very sick with typhoid fever. All of the sick here are getting along fine. Next Tuesday night is first nomination; election first Tuesday night in December. Get out to these meetings if you can. Esquire rank next Tuesday night.

The White Cross Brethren are making a desperate effort to get that banquet promised them by Bro. Ashbrook when the lodge has 300 members in good standing—dues paid in advance. There are now 252 members who are paid and 24 who are in arrears, but the brothers are determined before January 1st to have the 300 fully paid up and then propose to have the pledge redeemed.—Johnstown Independent.

Modern Woodmen.

Cedar Camp, No. 4727, met in regular session Monday night. Five applications for membership were received. One candidate was found in waiting and was adopted as a beneficial member. The committee on open meeting reported progress and requested that the neighbors turn out next Monday night, as they have prepared a good musical program. This open meeting is for the Modern Woodmen, Royal Neighbors, their friends and prospective candidates. After the program is over dancing will be indulged in. On the first meeting night in December, Cedar Camp will elect officers for the year 1912. There will be candidates to receive the work and the refreshment committee will serve refreshments. Don't forget neighbors, next Monday night night, and bring your wife or some friend with you, as we will try and show you a good time. Royal Neighbors and their friends are especially invited next Monday night.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS.

Like Old Style of Engines

It is said to be a strong possibility that the Pennsylvania will go back to the old style of passenger locomotive if experiments that are under way continue to give as satisfactory results as they have so far.

For some time the company has been compiling statistics relative to fuel consumption and passenger engines. It is stated that a certain class shows a saving in the operation of certain trains while others do better with heavier hauls. The new engines in use for several years have made good in the matter of speed, but as there are only certain trains which require that extra speed be made, the officials believe that those making more stops and operating on a slower schedule can get along very well with the old style of engine.

Uniform Baggage Rate.

Representatives of shipping and commercial organizations throughout the country have completed arrangements to prosecute a vigorous campaign in behalf of uniform and reasonable interstate and intrastate excess baggage rules, rates, requirements and practices, including the matter of trunk dimensions. It is understood to be the purpose of those directing the propaganda to push it to a finality at the earliest possible date, to which end conferences with representatives of most of the large railroad systems have been arranged for early dates.

In some states there are laws providing for a charge of 1½ per cent of the first class passenger fare for each 100 pounds of excess baggage, while on interstate business there is a uniform rule providing for a charge of 16 2-3 per cent of the first class fare. It is sought to obtain a unification of the various regulations.

Idle Cars Increasing.

The fortnightly bulletin of the American Railway Association states that on Nov. 8 the net surplus of idle cars on the lines of the United States and Canada stood at 26,514 compared with 20,532 two weeks before.

The number of idle cars, or the gross surplus, was 45,290, compared with 39,306, while the shortage remained about the same, the total on Nov. 8 standing at 18, 776, against 18,774. In the two weeks ended Nov. 8 the surplus of coal cars increased from 12,148 to 16,398, while the box car surplus increased from 716 to 9507. This is the first increase in idle cars since last July and the change toward higher surpluses came at about the same time as usual. In fact, last year the very same fortnight witnessed the first increase after the heavy fall traffic.

Bowwows Barred From Baggage Cars.

Hunters and other owners of valuable dogs are aroused over a new rule which has gone into effect on all western railroads regarding the handling of the animals. The rule requires that dogs under $25 in value be shipped as excess baggage and muzzled, while bench and field dogs must ride in express cars. The owners admit they don't like it, and the baggage men object to it because it cuts them off from a tidy sum in tips. Women object to putting their pets in a common baggage car, when it would be much harder to put them in a suit case or bag. The principal objection is made by hunters, who declare that muzzling their dogs makes them unfit for the chase. It is said that several roads have granted the request of the hunters that their dogs be allowed to be shipped unmuzzled.

More Mammoth Engines Ordered.

The Pennsylvania railroad has ordered three additional locomotives of the mammoth Mallet type, which was tested recently at Altoona, Pa.

With four of these engines for service on the mountain grades, the work of eight ordinary locomotives can be accomplished. The new engines will be similar to the present one in construction, but it is said they may possibly be even of more gigantic proportions.

Pennsylvania railroad employees in the eastern part of the city of Indianapolis, Ind., have organized a cooperative association for the purpose of securing and distributing food products at cheaper rates than prevail at the grocery stores of the city. In ordering large quantities of food the men have found that they better the wholesale prices of Indianapolis dealers by from two to three cents a pound on different supplies. Chiefly groceries were bought in the first experiment, but the next order is to include fruits and vegetables, then, later, perhaps the association will investigate the advantages to be derived by purchasing coal.

Approval has been given by the attorney general of Texas to the charter of the Fort Worth & Southwestern, which is to run from Fort Worth to Eagle Pass in that state.

Heavy traffic is taking the motive power of the Reading and the need of more engines is very great. Coal movements from the west are very heavy and much general freight is being received from New York state.

The entire line of the Queen & Crescent between Cincinnati and Chattanooga, with the exception, of course, of the tunnels, is to be double tracked. The improvement will call for a large expenditure. At one point alone it will cost for 13 miles $1,000,000.

It is understood that plans have been perfected for extensive work in the way of improvements at Altoona. Work is expected to begin within a few months. It is further stated that this will include the removal of the present passenger station and the erection of new one.

Legislation helpful to the cause of the workingman will be passed by the Sixty-second Congress. The labor leaders has assurances that the Democratic majority in the House will take up the subjects of employers' liability, extension of the eight hour day in government work, restriction of the power of injunction, strengthening of the safety appliances law, and prohibition of the so-called Taylor system in government work. W. B. Wilson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the labor committee of the House, is himself an active member of the miners' union, which is an assurance that labor problems will receive a fair hearing before his committee.

Every once in awhile some town or hamlet in one or another part of the country is suddenly thrown into the limelight. It does not often happen, however, that the name of the place so readily dovetails with the quality of the same occurrence as in the case of the shameful exploit of Shady Bend, Kansas. Shady Bend certainly has some shady citizens.

INVESTIGATION

That Morgan, Rockefeller and other trust magnates consider themselves too sacred to be prosecuted or violating the law has been known for some time.

But that they consider themselves too sacred to be even investigated was not known until the Stanley investigating committee was politely asked by the steel trust attorneys to please abandon its inquiry because of the Wickersham suit to dissolve the trust.

Should this request be gratified it would mean that the Wickersham suit is a God-send to the trust, inasmuch as it sidetracks an honest and searching investigation of a monopoly.

Attorney General Wickersham himself claims to be illegal. That the trust fears a continuation of the investigation by a committee that is not packed with special interest servers, more than it does a "suit to dissolve" conducted by an attorney general who was a former trust attorney, has been known for some time.

Thanks to a Democratic majority on the Stanley committee, the investigation will proceed. But wishing to be entirely fair to all concerned, the committee has discontinued public hearings until a full committee can pass on the proposition. It is already known that the committee favors a continuation of the probe.

COMMERCE COURT IS ATTACKED

Owing to the fact that nearly every time the Interstate Commerce Commission decides a case favorable to the shippers, the Taft Commerce court reverses the decision to the benefit of the railroads, there is a movement among Democratic and progressive Republican congressmen to legislate the Commerce Court out of existence. Judge Thetus W. Sims of Tennessee already has a bill prepared for the abolition of the court, and he will ask his Democratic colleagues in the House to pass the measure.

The Ohio property tax is paid in two installments each year—June and December—and figures obtained from taxing districts show that many property owners, chiefly farmers and home owners, will pay but half as much taxes as they did in 1910. Auditor Alexander of Ross county, described the condition when he said: "In a number of taxing districts of our country the people can pay their whole year's taxes at the December collection and still pay out less money than they paid before for the half year. Ninety per cent of our people will pay less taxes than they paid last year. The other 10 per cent will pay more, because they have been escaping taxation in the past. Last year in our county we had rates as high as $4.50 for $100. This year the highest rate will be $1.40 and the lowest 10 cents."

STATE AUDITOR
FULLINGTON'S
BAD RECORD

The indications at this time are that if State Auditor Fullington is to get on the next Republican state ticket as a candidate to succeed himself, he will have to knock down and beat into submission a corps of unbossed, unfettered aggressive Republicans who don't want their ticket weighted down with any candidate whose public record is such that it would place the party on the defensive.

To the progressive Republicans in Ohio, Fullington, as a candidate for state auditor, would be regarded as a liability to the ticket.

The Republican opponents have analyzed Fullington's weakness as follows: First—the 1909 valuation of telephones, express and telegraph companies were really made by Fullington, although it was supposed to be done by the state board of appraisers of which he was the head. Since the State Tax Commission took over this work, it has been discovered that most of these concerns were appraised at only 25 per cent of true value—a rank injustice to other taxpayers paying 60 per cent of true value. But a more serious revelation is the fact that under Fullington's appraisement there was no uniformity in appraising: some companies were favored with low valuations, and high appraisements were forced on others. There were favoritism and hostility in the appraisements. As between companies with like capital, like physical value, about the same number of phones and comparatively the same gross receipts there would be wide differences in the values placed upon them. It is difficult to see why in these instances one company would be placed on the duplicate for $10,000 and another with practically the same property would be on for $80,000.

Opponents of Fullington foresee that the people will inquire what influences were exerted for the apparent favoritism. They will also want to know why other concerns were treated with such open hostility. Did one company withhold political support and campaign contributions? Did the other give unsparingly of both?

During the Gilbert administration as state auditor and while Fullington was chief clerk, it was openly charged that valuations of these utilities were manipulated for political advantages.

The prospects of having to answer such questions is more alarming to a considerable element in Fullington's party when they consider that his record is full of other dangerous flaws and blemishes that might not only overwhelm him, but also might help to carry others on the ticket down with him.

Then there is Fullington's association with former Auditor Gilbert. A mere mention of that in the presence of progressive Republicans produces an effect like waving a red flag in the face of an angry bull.

THE CHRONIC INVALID.

I had taken pounds of poison, I had taken loads of pills, in a fierce, prolonged endeavor to alleviate my ills; from a thousand drug store flagons I had blown the costly foam, and I talked about my symptoms till the all-fired cows came home. And it used to grieve me vastly that my friends refused to stand while I talked of my diseases and my aches, to hear the band. Then my Uncle Jeremiah came and sat beside my cot, and said: "I will not listen to a string of tommyrot; you have talked about your ailments, you have brooded o'er your pains, till you think them living issues, and they've soured your poor old brains. I have come around to cure you, and I will," my uncle said, and he took me by the ankles and he hauled me out of bed. Then he made me don my raiment and he chased me out of doors, and he urged me with a pitchfork till I helped him do the chores. All the day he kept me humping and whenever I paused to tell of my handsomely line of symptoms, he would simply give a yell, and look around him for a dornick: so I learned to hold my peace, and I also learned the value, as a cure, of elbow grease!

WHAT WE LIKE TO KNOW

ROBBING PETER TO PAY PAUL.

The above saying owes its origin to the rivalry between St. Peter's Cathedral, which is now Westminster Abbey, and St. Paul's Cathedral in London.

In 1550 (during the reign of Edward VI) an appropriation was made from St. Peter's to make up a deficiency in the account of St. Paul's, which action met with much opposition and people were heard to say, "Why rob St. Peter to pay St. Paul?"

This proverb was renewed upon the death of William Pitt (Earl of Chatham) in 1778. The two metropolitan cemeteries laid claim to the honor of his burial. The city of London argued that so great a statesman as William Pitt should be buried in St. Paul's, when George III. was on the throne of England.

DEMOCRAT FROM NEW MEXICO

Although the regular or standpat Republican organization has carried a majority of members of the New Mexico legislature chosen three weeks ago, indications are that one Democrat and one progressive Republican will be elected Senators.

Now that the Inter-State Commerce Commission has at last started inquiry into the management of the great express companies there will be general public desire that there shall be no whitewashing during or after the quest. There is plenty of pay dirt to reward the digging, and the exploration should be thorough.

THE DANDRUFF GERM

And the Guinea Pig.

When Drs. Lasser and Bishop made a pomade by mixing scales of dandruff and vaseline, which they afterwards rubbed on a guinea pig, they were contributing to science more than they knew. The application of the salve caused the pig to lose its hair and become bald.

This was merely one of the preliminary steps which made possible the discovery of Newbro's Hericide. After establishing beyond question the existence of the dandruff germ, a remedy was needed to kill this parasite.

There was nothing which would do this until Newbro's Hericide was placed upon the market. Being the first recognized remedy for dandruff, it has long been called the "original remedy." Hericide kills the germ, prevents falling hair and stops itching of the scalp. Don't take a substitute, you can always get the genuine article.

DEWEESIE-HUGHES.

Mr. George Deweesie and Miss Nellie Hughes were quietly married Friday morning at 11 o'clock by Rev. Ernest S. Dillen at his residence on North Fourth street. They reside on a farm about six miles northeast of the city.

One of the most enjoyable events of the week was a surprise miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Blanche Miller at her home in Maple avenue, Wednesday evening by neighbor ladies and friends. The evening was spent in music and conversation, after which a delicious luncheon was served. The bride-to-be received many beautiful and useful presents.

Those present were Mesdames J. Yaus, Thos. Lamb, A. Yaus, Thomas Kincaid, F. G. Lindhart, James Coon R. Neibarger, M. Edwards, J. E. Hohl, E. P. Wilkin, Orville Rickett, I. O. Palmer, Charles Baker, S. S. Richards, Edward Long, J. H. Miller, E. L. Frye, Phillips, William Black, Herman Luckner, McFarland, H. Anderson, and the Misses Mary Long, Julie Neibarger, and Myrtle Johnson.

On Thursday evening the officers of Newark Chapter O. E. S., accompanied by a few friends, repaired en masse to the home of their Worthy Matron, Mrs. J. C. Bonshire, "Uncle Sy" and "Aunt Samantha," leading the way. After the hostess had recovered from her surprise, a guessing contest was indulged in. After all had been unmasked, Mr. Narragan, in his ever happy way, on behalf of those present, presented Mrs. Bonshire with a

The evening was spent in conversation, games and music. He received several beautiful and useful gifts.

A dainty luncheon was served to the following guests: Misses Alice and Elsie Oliver, Lula Wilson, Laura Tavener, Alta Neibarger, Sadie Giffen, Hazel, Nina and Lola Harter, Nora and Elsie Hobbs, Edith Oldaker, Ida Gardner, Lillian McClelland, Atta Wilkin, Burdella Marriott, Bessie Bodle, and Muriel and Grace Evers,

One of the enjoyable events of the season was the one planned and carried out by Mrs. John Gillmore and Mrs. Robert Davis, Friday evening when friends and relatives to the number of thirty-three, surprised Mrs. Ward Howell with a masquerade party at her home in Pearl street.

The time was spent socially in games and music. Part of the High school orchestra gave several selections. Refreshments were served.

Among those present were: Mrs. Allen and children Anna and William, Mrs. Mary Baird, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Fairill, Mrs. F. E. Living Fully or in Patches.

HG. WELLS, the novelist, in one of his books, makes a character remark. "We live life in patches. We eat. We sleep. We take exercise. We do this and we do that, just to keep our physical machinery going. And we call it living."

Evidently, the speaker is much disgusted with the accepted notion of life. And, if we stop to think of it, living life on such a plane as this, does for a being of intelligence and fine sensibilities, seem hardly worth while. Yet, when we get down to the real facts of the case, a good many of us do live in this way. We throw in a little work or a little play, which, however, is all for our own advantage or aggrandizement, and the days pass, and the weeks pass, and the years pass, and we eat and sleep and exercise and make life a patchwork of such things, just as the writer says.

It is a very material plane to live on. But many of us live on it and never glance beyond. We look about and see every one else living this way, and so we slip into the routine; and, though sometimes we wonder if the game is worth the candle, still we keep in step with the procession.

But let's consider a moment if we need to live in patches, if life cannot yield us something more than this sort of existence? What is the real life? These material things, we know will pass away. They belong to the temporal and destructible. But are there not some things that are indestructible, some things which, though we cannot see them with our eyes, or touch them with our fingers, still are real and cannot be destroyed? And if there are such, and we live in them, will we not then live a real life, a life that is indestructible and a life that is worth while?

And are there not such realities in the form of the things of the spirit,—love, kindness, gentleness, tenderness, honor, truth? We cannot place our hand on some substantial material object and say this is love, or honor or truth. But nevertheless, we know these things exist, that they are real. And if all the material things were swept away, if food and houses and clothing, even if the world itself were destroyed, still the idea of love, of good, of truth, would remain untouched, unchanged, as real and vital as it ever was.

If we want to live the real life then, do we not want to live in these things, to get into an atmosphere where these reign, to bring them into our life and experience as the predominating influence, rather than food and sleep and exercise. We may go through these material processes of living, but we can go through them almost mechanically. Our body can perform this function on this lower plane, so to speak, of its own volition. But our real self, our higher self, the spirit that is the reality within us, can concern itself with the realities of life, can live in this atmosphere of what is true and real and indestructible. And if we do this, we will not have that sensation of living in patches, that feeling that is it worth while to exist to eat and sleep and take exercise, and go through such a belittling grind. Might it not make life a more beautiful and purposeful thing for some of us, if we would think upon this a bit.

THAT'S ONLY ME.
BY MISS ALICE WADDELL.

She sent me a kiss
by telephone.
It wasn't bad for a start!
You take less chance
with gorms, 'tis true,
When the lips are far apart.

But give me the good old fashioned kiss—
The one that goes with a squeeze—
There's just one kind
when love is blind.
All others only

The KITCHEN CABINET

IHIS world which clouds thy soul with doubt
Is but a carpet inside out.
It's when we view those shreds and ends,
We know not what the whole intends;
So when on earth things look too odd,
They're working out some scheme of God.
What now seem random strokes, will
In order and design appear.
Then shall we praise what here we spurned;
For then the carpet shall be turned.

SOUPS FOR COOL EVENINGS.

When the main meal is taken at noon there is no dish at night that "goes to the spot" like a nice hot dish of soup. Cream soups are appropriate for this meal and they are legion, so that all tastes may be gratified.

Cocoanut Soup.—This is one that is so perfectly delicious that the trouble of preparation will be swallowed with the first taste. Cook two pounds of veal bones in two quarts of water put over them cold. When reduced to one quart add the grated meat (or meat put through a meat chopper) of one cocoanut and cook a half hour; strain and add the milk of the nut and a pint of cream. Reheat and thicken with a tablespoonful each of flour and butter cooked together. Season with salt, pepper and a little onion juice and, just as ready to serve, pour over two slightly beaten eggs.

Queen Victoria's Favorite Soup.—Remove the fat from one quart of water in which a fowl has been cooked. Season with salt, pepper, onion juice and celery salt. Mash the yolks of three hard-cooked eggs, mix with half cup of bread crumbs soaked in a little milk until soft. Chop the white meat of the chicken until fine as meal and stir it into the egg and bread paste. Add a pint of hot cream slowly, then added to the chicken liquor. Boil five minutes, add more salt and, if too thick, more cream; if too thin, add more crumbs. It should be a puree. A fine soup may be made of the wing tips and bones of a turkey left from dinner.

The tough ends of steak, with a few bones, will make another good-flavored soup.

Nellie Maxwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vest entertained a number of their friends and neighbors at their beautiful cottage home on Summit street, Thursday evening. Dancing was the feature of the evening.

Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vest, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wooley, Mrs. Fred Hupp, Mrs. Rusk Ingard, Mrs. E. A. Barber, Lena Smucker, Hazel Coon, Lulu Wooley, Mary Vest, Herbert Ves, Edward Barber, Waunita Hupp, Ronald Hupp, Oran Ingman, Eugene and Orlan Vest, Mr. Prior.

At a late hour refreshments were served. All present had an enjoyable time.

Quite a number of neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hayes, 209 Elmwood avenue, and gave them a kitchen shower. Mrs. Hayes was formerly Miss Clara Hoffmann.

A fine luncheon was served to the following: Mrs. Margarite Huffman, Mrs. Fred Hupp and daughter Waunita, Mrs. Albert Schmutzler, Mrs. Fred Steen, Mrs. August Steen, Mrs. Geo Steen and daughter Helen, Mrs. Lois Trout, Mrs. Clarence Boyd, Mrs. Will Kerr, Mrs. Herman Luckner, Mrs. James Wooley, Mrs. Frank Frye, Mrs. E. ## "Licking" Dry Cleaning Service for Thanksgiving Garments

Freshly cleaned outer garments are just as necessary as clean linen. Don't forget that you are going to need them especially for Thanksgiving. We not only aim at perfection in dry cleaning, but we attain it.

Particular care is given dinner, ball or reception gowns, and gentlemen's full dress or Tuxedos.

A Word About Your Table Linen

Your table linen should look its best for the Thanksgiving dinner. It will if you send it to us to be laundered. We wash and iron your table clothes and napkins with a smooth, velvet like finish that shows every thread in the pretty pattern, and give them the same sheen and stiffness that they had when new. To avoid a possible delay, phone your order Monday, and one of our wagons will call. Automatic phone, 1055; Bell phone, 800.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The First White Man to Smoke A Pipe

GRANDPA had come to see the children, and Jack and Evelyn had hung about him all day and over him all evening. When bedtime came they did not wish to leave him.

"But grandpa has to have his good night pipe out on the porch, and when he has that he wants peace and quiet. If you children are hanging about how can he 'compose his mind,' as he calls it?" said daddy decidedly.

Jack and Evelyn sighed and climbed the stairs, for when daddy spoke that way they knew bed must be.

"I wonder if you would like to hear about the white man who first smoked a pipe of tobacco?" asked daddy.

"Of course!" cried Jack, and "I don't mind!" said Evelyn.

"Well, this man's name was Walter Raleigh, and he lived several hundred years ago when England had a lady queen named Elizabeth. Walter—Sir Walter he was called—lived in London and used to go every day to the queen's palace with the other fine gentlemen who paid her the pretty compliments of which she was very fond.

"Sir Walter had thus made himself agreeable to the queen. One day when she was out walking she came to a mud puddle which there was no way of crossing without soiling her delicate satin shoes."

"Young Walter Raleigh happened to notice the mud and quickly stepped forward and laid his own beautiful velvet and satin cloak so that the queen could step over without soiling her feet."

"The queen was much pleased with this politeness, and soon the young man was through her favor given many chances to make money. He soon became quite rich."

"He sent ships to Virginia, then a new country, and tried to have people go there to live. One little village which was started by the folks he sent over was called Roanoke. It was not a success, but one good thing that came about through Sir Walter Raleigh's interest in America was that people learned to eat potatoes."

"Another thing he made popular was tobacco. The Indians smoked it, and some of his men brought him a present of tobacco and a pipe from America. One day a servant coming into the room where Sir Walter sat was frightened to see smoke coming out of his nose and mouth. Thinking he was on fire, the servant rushed for a pail of water and threw it over his master, who had much trouble in explaining his pipe to the faithful fellow. After awhile smoking became so popular in England that even the court ladies smoked tobacco in fine little silver pipes. Queen Elizabeth herself leading the fashion."

LABOR NEWS

GOVERNORS' TRAIN WILL START MONDAY FOR EASTERN TRIP

San Francisco, Nov. 25.—The great interest shown by the West in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, which is to be held in San Francisco in 1915, is exemplified by the fact that a special train carrying the Governors of ten Western States will leave St. Paul, Minn., on November 27th for a tour of the Eastern States.

This train, which is known as the Governors' Special Train, will not only advertise the West, but will bring the Exposition forcibly to the attention of the East. Governor A. O. Eberhardt, of Minnesota; John Burke, of North Dakota; R. S. Vessey of South Dakota; Edwin L. Norris of Montana; Oswald West of Oregon; James H. Hawley of Idaho; M. E. Hay of Washington; J. M. Carey of Wyoming will be on board, and, in all probability, Governors Tasker J. Oddie of Nevada and William Spry of Utah will make the trip. Governor Osborne of Michigan will join the party at Kalamazoo, Mich.

The train will carry exhibit cars showing the products and manufactures of the West. California's car is a credit to the state. In it will be exhibits of minerals, fresh, dried, processed fruits, olives, olive oil, alfalfa and dairy products, and, in fact, all of the broad industries which have made California a unique state are represented.

The Manufacturers' Association of this State has supplied the redwood that has been extensively used in decorating the interior of California's car, to show to the Eastern people the possibilities and practicability of redwood.

The Grape Growers' Association has supplied the material for a grape arbor effect through the coach. The central section of the car, which is to be devoted to a reception room, has been turned into a summer house. The effect of a pergola covered with grape vines and clusters of grapes is very unique and beautiful.

Former Governor James H. Brady of Idaho, who is president of the Western Development League, is in charge of the train. It is through his efforts that the Chief Executives of the various states have consented to make the trip.

The special train will travel 4,000 miles and will visit twenty-one cities, which represent a combined population of more than 12,000,000 people. Receptions are being planned by the Mayors of the cities to be visited, and it is expected that President Taft will extend a cordial welcome on the visit of the Governors to Washington.

The train will be in Chicago on November 28, and the party will be guests of the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Chicago Land Show, and the Cook County Realty Board, will hold their annual banquets at the Hotel La Salle, at which function all the wealth and influence of Chicago will be gathered. The Governors will be on the program. They will be recommended and sold by all drugists.

THE ERA OF OIL ENGINES.

Remarkable progress has been made recently in perfecting the oil engine. The oil-burning motors are growing steadily lighter, cheaper and more efficient, while the mechanism has been greatly simplified. An oil motor, producing 100 h.p., has been made which weighs only 3,000 lbs. The importance of this saving in weight is, of course, obvious. It has also been found that cheap coal tar, mixed with a very little tar oil, is as good a fuel as the most expensive crude naphtha. Already more than 200 ocean-going craft have been built, or are in the course of construction, equipped with the oil-burning engine, the largest being the 9,500-ton ocean-going steamer of the Hamburg-American line. The oil-burning stackless steamer has arrived.

The train will be met at Chicago by a Committee of Five from Kalamazoo, which will escort the party to that city, arriving on the 29th.

Mr. Colvin B. Brown will accompany the party as special representative of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. He also carries credentials from Governor Hiram W. Johnson of California. He will distribute literature pertaining to San Francisco and the Exposition, and will also deliver addresses describing the importance of the coming International World's Fair.

Mr. Brown is now in Idaho in the interests of the special train, and, in

"Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many skin specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared." The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York, put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thin or turning gray, get bottle of this remedy from your druggist today, and see what it will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle and is recommended and sold by all drugists.

WOMEN ARE URGED BY MRS. LAWRENCE TO RESIST POLICE.

London, Nov. 25.—Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, who has figured in previous outbreaks of the suffragettes, is again to the front in the contest

"Not at all," replied the mayor-elect. "Socialists are in favor of municipal ownership, but everyone that favors municipal ownership is not a Socialist. Every city has its problems to solve in its own way. We will take up the subject of water filtration in Cleveland along the same lines that the lighting question must be handled."

"If it is shown that the water reaching the city's residents is impure, then we must find a way of filtration; and again dealing honestly, with the greatest efficiency, and at a minimum cost."

When Johnson ran for mayor the last time and met defeat, Baker was the only Democrat on the ticket elected. It is said that he wished to resign his post as city solicitor, but the police and the militant secked after the ballot. She has issued a circular poster calling on women to assemble in their thousands and "see fair play and protect women from being brutally victimized by the police in uniform and plain clothes, as they were on Black Friday, 1910, when as a result of ill usage one woman died and many were seriously injured." Counsel to the government warmly condemns this as a disgraceful and unworthy production.

GRANVILLIANS EXPERIENCING COLD WEATHER

Many of the Denizens Suffering With Bad Colds—News of the Thriving College City.

Granville, Nov. 25.—There was a sudden drop in temperature here again Friday night, and Saturday morning we had another touch of winter. During the night there were slight flurries of snow, and quite a hard freeze. Saturday morning was very disagreeable and many complaints were heard. It seems to be the order of things in this latitude to have sudden changes in the weather, and the result is that nearly every one is complaining of bad colds. Saturday morning was very bad on horses that were compelled to stand out in the open. Thus far, however, most of the drivers of horses have been complying with the law and blanketing the animals when they are left standing outdoors. There has, however, been several violations, and the parties violating the law will be dealt with if they persist in leaving their horses unblanketed in cold weather.

While a larger number of people in this vicinity are engaged in the poultry and egg business than ever before, yet there never was such a reported scarcity of fresh eggs. The price is higher than ever before at this time of the year and is constantly increasing. Saturday morning good fresh eggs were retailing at 35 cents per dozen. Fresh eggs will be worth their price in gold if the present scarcity continues for any great length of time. The scarcity of the fresh article is having its effect on the storage variety. Already the price of storage eggs has started upward and the steady drain on storage plants will keep it creeping higher according to market reports.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Yingling and daughter, Miss Oniska, were called to St. Mary's O., to attend the funeral of Miss Russell, who died in New York this week while on visit there.

The remains of Frank Scott, who died at the Soldiers' Home in Washington, D. C., were brought to Granville and the funeral services were held Friday afternoon. Interment was made in Maple Grove cemetery. The deceased is survived by one daughter, Miss Bessie Scott, of 21 Union street, two brothers and two sisters.

George Piper, formerly engaged in the meat business in Granville, but who for the past year or two has been engaged in the same business in Cambridge, has sold his stock and fixtures in that city to P. L. Baker.

The second annual Bible essay and Bible reading contest of the Clerical Literary Society of Denison University will be held in the Baptist church prayer meeting room on Tuesday evening, Nov. 28.

Mrs. James Arndt, who formerly lived in Granville, but who has been making her home in Newark for some time, enjoyed a short visit here with friends during the past week.

Albert Guckert, who has been quite sick at his home on West Broadway for some days, is rapidly recovering.

At the next regular meeting of Center Star Lodge to be held on Thursday evening, the Past Master's degree will be conferred on two candidates.

The Unity Sewing Club will hold its next meeting the first Wednesday in January with Mrs. George Smith.

Mrs. Harry Burkam has returned from a two weeks' visit in Columbus in December.

AEROPLANES IN COMMERCE.

During the past three months the exports and imports of aeroplanes through New York harbor have exceeded $50,000. As might be expected, the imports are greater than the exports. These figures do not include, of course, the number of aeroplanes which were brought in merely for exhibition purposes and taken back to Europe at the end of the flying meets. In a few years the aeroplane will doubtless become a considerable factor in our commerce and incidentally an important source of revenue, since the duty upon them is at present very high. During the past nine months some 670 automobiles have been imported into the United States, while the exports in the same period were 11-244 machines.

CURIOSITIES OF NEW YORK HARBOR.

Some 11,000 ocean and coast vessels regularly enter and leave New York harbor. An army of 225,000 men and women are employed aboard this fleet. In addition to this, it is estimated that fully one-quarter of a million New Yorkers earn their living in one way or another from the port's commerce. The harbor at present contains 55 miles of pier frontage, and yet the harbor is capable of a development that will accommodate six times as much traffic.

Magnificent Mission Hall Clocks Absolutely Free

The Clock is exactly as illustrated here.

Almost six feet tall and 18 inches wide, with brass hands, brass numerals, weight and chain. It is of Antique design, and Mission finish.

The clock is made by the Monitor Clock Co., of Medina, N. Y., whose reputation as manufacturers of high class Mission clocks, and movements, is known the country over.

This is positively the most remarkable offer ever made to Newark people by a reliable concern.

We have been giving these clocks for the week past, and it has been a great week for us, and yet we did not advertise this offer the first week, for we realized that had we done so, we would have been literally swamped with business, but we shall continue the offer for another week, for we want all to have a fair opportunity, and NOW desire to give this as much publicity as possible.

We do not believe in misrepresentation or exaggeration in any line of business, and especially in advertising; this has ever been the policy of this Company, and that this policy has been strictly adhered to, all can testify, but it would be hard to discuss an offer such as we are now making without SEEING to exaggerate.

THINK OF IT—A FULL SIZED MISSION CLOCK, made by reputable, reliable people; a clock that sells regularly at from $12.50 to $15., and has been advertised at that price in some of the larger cities; a clock that combines beauty and service; a clock that would be an ornament to any home, this clock given to purchasers of $20 worth, or more, of household goods,

Furniture, Carpets, Stoves, Rugs, Bedding or Draperies

Not only is this CLOCK GIVEN to cash buyers, but also to any and all who take advantage of OUR POPULAR EASY PAYMENT PLAN as well.

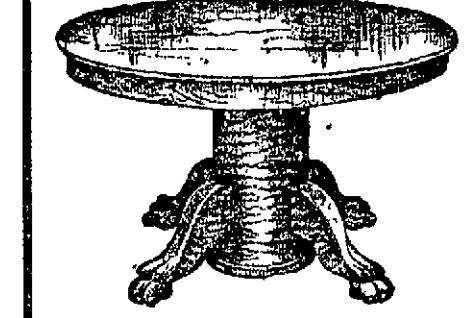

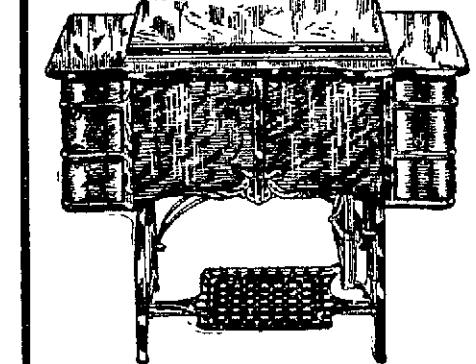

Does this sound like exaggeration? COME IN AND SEE. Let us show you how we make good. You will be more than satisfied, and will go out with that smile of satisfaction that won't come off.

This offer applies only to goods purchased before closing time next Saturday evening, December 2nd, 1911.

NEWARK HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

School was dismissed Thursday afternoon on account of the city teachers' institute. Dr. P. C. Claxton, U. S. commissioner of education, was the main speaker. He gave two addresses, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. Dr. C. C. Miller, from the Ohio state school commissioner's office, spoke in the afternoon. The high school chorus and orchestra furnished music both afternoon and evening. Considering the bad weather, there was a fairly large crowd in the evening. Both meetings were very successful. The football team went to Zanesville today at 12:15 to play the high school team of that place.

Last Tuesday occurred the annual game with Doane Academy. The game was the most spirited of the season. There was no scoring by either side.

The second period of work is over and the reports will be forthcoming next Tuesday.

A fine bulletin board has been placed in the corridor of the high school by the literary societies.

The question for the triangular debate with Mt. Vernon and Zanesville has been decided upon. Newark had the choice of sides this year, and chose the negative against Mt. Vernon and the affirmative against Zanesville. The debates are to take place on the second Friday night of March, Newark going to Mt. Vernon and Zanesville coming here. The question for discussion is: Resolved, That each state in the Union should enact laws establishing compulsory arbitration in labor disputes. Constitutionality conceded.

The boys on their walking trip last week stopped at the home of William and James Burnett, north of the city. Mrs. Burnett treated the boys to apples. The boys appreciated it very much.

The girls are intending to organize a basketball team for the season. Mr. Neptune has about completed an excellent schedule for the boys' team.

Everybody is looking forward to Thanksgiving. School will be dismissed on Thursday and Friday. Friends of the school are invited to attend the Thanksgiving exercises in the high school Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mary Anderson has been elected to fill the vacancy of exchange editor on the Revelle staff.

The junior class pins arrived yesterday just after school. Too bad they have to wait until Monday to be worn.

Speaking of sitting on a bench in Fairmount Park, this city, with her husband, she said: "Suddenly he attacked me. He seized me by the throat and began biting me. He nearly bit my thumb off." She said she filed suit for divorce, charging extreme and repeated cruelty.

When her husband was notified of the suit, she said he remarked, "I'm going to have $10,000 out of this, or I'm going to have blood."

As to the shooting itself Mrs. Patterson testified that she met her husband by appointment and that he wanted $50. She said she had only carfare, and that she struck her in the face with his fist.

"I was staggered by the blow. Then he hit me on the left ear and I fell backwards. While I was on the ground he kicked me in the side. I struggled to get up and saw him standing over me with his arm raised. Then I reached into my bag, got my revolver, and shot."

"How many times?"

"I don't know."

"Do you remember anything after that?"

STATE COMMISSION WILL HOLD HEARING HERE TUESDAY EVE.

City Solicitor Frank A. Bolton Saturday morning received a letter from the Public Service Commission of Ohio in explanation of a hearing that is to take place in the chamber of the City Council of this city on Tuesday evening of next week.

The City Council of this city on the 10th of June, 1909, passed a rate ordinance requiring the Licking Light and Power company to furnish electricity for light and power at a maximum rate of 9 cents per kilowatt hour, at a discount of 10 per cent when all bills were paid before the 10th of each month. The rate was fixed for a period of ten years, and was accepted in writing by the company.

The ordinance was silent as to a sliding scale, also no minimum charge for electricity for light and power other than the minimum charge of fifty cents per month for residences. The Licking Light and Power company, from the information received by the City Solicitor from the Public Service Commission of Ohio, has filed a schedule of rates, which include a sliding scale at a minimum charge.

It is the purpose of the service commission to inform itself as to the reasonableness of the charges fixed in the schedule of rates proposed by the Licking Light and Power company, and during this investigation testimony will be taken of the consumers of electricity in order to determine whether or not the proposed schedule shall be approved by the commission.

All persons affected by this investigation are requested by the City Solicitor to appear before the commission.

Three months after she met Strauss Mrs. Patterson said she and Strauss asked for Paris, where he put her in a boarding school.

"Were you traveling as his wife?"

"Not then."

"He was exercising the privileges of a husband?"

There was a pause and then Mrs. Patterson said faintly "Yes," covered her face with her hands and wept.

Before she was grilled by the prosecution Mrs. Patterson took up the subject of Patterson's illness—it is said he was nearly dead from tuberculosis of the lungs when he was killed—and said she had nursed him until a physician ordered her to take a rest.

The story of the witness's girlhood, of her meeting with Strauss when she was 10 years old, of his taking her to Paris to study, of her return to Chicago with him at the end of the winter, and of the life she led with him for the next five years were brought out remorselessly. These points had been avoided in direct examination.

Three months after she met Strauss Mrs. Patterson said she and Strauss asked for Paris, where he put her in a boarding school.

"Were you traveling as his wife?"

"Not then."

"He was exercising the privileges of a husband?"

There was a pause and then Mrs. Patterson said faintly "Yes," covered her face with her hands and wept.

Before she was grilled by the prosecution Mrs. Patterson took up the subject of Patterson's illness—it is said he was nearly dead from tuberculosis of the lungs when he was killed—and said she had nursed him until a physician ordered her to take a rest.

She continued to visit him, however, and one day, she testified, he exclaimed, "If you don't come back and nurse me I'm going to sue that."

"He patted his pillow," continued the witness, "and said, 'I'll kill you as sure as I live.'"

In July, 1910, witness said she filed suit for divorce in Chicago, and went to live with her parents in Sandusky, Ohio.

"My husband kept after me for money, saying he wanted to go west for his health," narrated Mrs. Patterson. "When I told him I had none, he said, 'Get it.'

This was a reference to the Chicago millionaire whose name has been brought into the case. Mrs. Patterson said she refused this request and that her husband beat her. Later, she said, she wrote to Emil Strauss and he sent her $500 with which she and her husband came to Denver.

While they were still living in Chicago, the witness declared, Patterson says she refused this request and that her husband beat her. Later, she said, she wrote to Emil Strauss and he sent her $500 with which she and her husband came to Denver.

It was while they were in Chicago, that Patterson insisted that she secure more money with which he desired to purchase property.

Mrs. Patterson declared she would apply for no more, whereupon, she recited, her husband exclaimed: "I think I'll sue that——for taking you to Europe and get the money."

It was then that Mrs. Patterson says she confessed to her husband that she had $5,000 given her by Strauss while they were in Europe.

She gave her husband $1,700 of it to buy property.

At this point the testimony took on a character which was succeeded by a dead, shocked silence in the courtroom.

It dealt with the marital life of husband and wife.

After reaching Denver witness said her husband pursued her with demands that she secure money from Strauss. Once, she declared the Chicago sent her a check for $250 without comment. Again Patterson de-

STORY OF A DOLLAR.

A few years ago a man living in a neighboring town put his name on a dollar bill. Next day he spent the money with a home merchant. In a few months he got that same dollar back. Again he placed the currency in local circulation and four times in six years the dollar came back to him. Then that dollar got into the hands of a man who sent it to a Mail Order House. He has not seen since it and never will. Think it over. The way to make Newark grow and prosper is to keep the money at home here. The dollars you spend with Newark merchants and for Newark labor will come back to you. Send the money to a mail order house or spend it in other towns and your chance of seeing that money again is very slim.

Without Damage to Scenic Beauty of Niagara, Electrical Power is Developed.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Nov. 25.—In view of the widespread movement for the conservation of natural resources, some figures given out by the Commerce Commission of this city, about power development along the Niagara River, are significant.

By the use of only the excess flow of water—without damage to the appearance of the Falls—power equivalent to that produced by 6,700,000 tons of coal is turned out every year on the Niagara River. As 6,700,000 tons of coal, at the price prevailing here, would cost about $18,950,000, the utilization by the water for power represents an annual saving of that amount of money.

The quantity of water that can be used for power is limited by law and international treaty, so that there is no longer of damage to the scenic beauty of Niagara. The restrictions are such that only a very small proportion of the total flow can be used. The power concerns are also co-operating with the Canadian and New York State Governments to make and keep the shore lines beautiful.

Of course it is out of question that the Nation will ever permit Niagara's waters to be converted into electricity up to the point where the scenic grandeur of the Falls would be affected.

OFFICIALS HERE KNOW NOTHING OF PROPOSED CHANGE

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railroad company held at Cincinnati, the announcement was made that Cincinnati had been made the headquarters for all equipment that was formerly handled at Newark, under jurisdiction of the Wheeling system. It was said that by this move all locomotives and rolling stock formerly handled at Newark would be taken to Cincinnati under the direct jurisdiction of General Superintendent C. W. Galloway and Superintendent of Motive Power A. P. Prendergast.

An Advocate reporter called at the office of Superintendent J. F. Irwin, this city, and asked if any information regarding the above statement had been received here. He was told that nothing whatever was known here regarding the matter, and that no official notification of the proposed change had been received.
